EASTER SERVICES.

UNITARIAN.
Easter was observed in all the churches in Arlington according to the programme as previously published in the Enterprise. The day was fortunately fair, though the chill of winter came in with the breezes from the north. At the Unitarian Church, the pastor the Rev. Mr. Gill preached on "The larger Easter: What it means to Unitarians." The music in charge of Mr. J. B. Weston of Cambridge, as organist and choir master was rendered with much expression. The church was tastefully decorated with palms, ferns and Easter lilies. The program was:
Organ Prelude, "Cujus Animam," Rossini Anthem, XXIII Psalm, Weston Soprano solo, "The Lord is Risen," Sullivan Response, "Come Unto Me," Weston Soprano solo, "Resurrection," Holden Organ Postlude, "Gloria from 12th Mass," Mozart

CONGREGATIONAL.
At the Congregational Church the Rev. Mr. Bushnell, preached an interesting Easter sermon upon the text "that I may know Him and the power of His resurrection." The music was a pleasant feature of the services. The church was made fragrant with the choice of flowers. A beautiful arch covered with laurel was placed over the pulpit, while upon the walls on either side of the pulpit were Easter mottoes in the form of shields. There were in profusion potted plants, ferns and lilies.
The programme:
Christ Our Passover, Warren
Easter Carol, A. F. Leach Hymn, "O, Jesus, Thou Art Standing," Brewer Easterlode, Manno
Christ is Risen, Brackett

The Easter concert in the evening was largely attended. The exercises were of an unusually interesting character.
The voluntary was rendered by Miss Jennie P. Sprague, which was followed by the Invocation. "Easter welcome" by the school was particularly enjoyable. The program which was entirely representative of the Easter time, was rendered in all its parts, with much effect. The exercises of the evening closed with an address by the pastor, and the singing of Coronation by the congregation.

ST. MALACHI.
At St. Malachy's Church Masses were celebrated at 7 and 9 o'clock, and the High Mass at 10.45. The sermon of the Feast was preached by A. J. Fitzgerald who spoke eloquently of the story of the Resurrection, reminding his hearers of the joy and gladness experienced by the followers of Christ on his appearance to them after his Resurrection.
The feast he said should bring the same joy to the penitential season. He argued the foundation the christian church as resting on the miracle of the Resurrection, and its structure as reared on this solid basis. A large congregation was present at each of the services.
The Altar, handsomely decorated with potted plants and cut flowers, and illuminated by numberless candles, presented a beautiful appearance.

The musical programme as already published was finely rendered by the church choir of thirty voices under the direction of Miss Lucy J. Butler organist. From our observation we judge that the Easter offering to the pastor must have been a most generous one.
Processional, organ, Clark Vidi Aquam, Witka
Prelude, Festal March, Gounod Kyrie, (Mass in D), Gounod Gloria, (Mass in D), Gounod

Credo, (Mass in D), Gounod O Salutaris, soprano solo, Wiegand Sanctus, (Mass in F), Stearns Agnus Dei, (Mass in F), Stearns Recessional, organ, (alkin)

At the afternoon service at 3.30 conducted by Rev. A. J. Fitzgerald, the musical programme was also elaborately rendered by the choir.

Prelude, organ, Beethoven Regina Coeli, Lambillotte O Salutaris, Margo
Tantum Ergo, Gregorian
Recessional, organ, Weber

BAPTIST.
The musical programme was carried out at the Baptist Church according to last week's announcement. The church was full of worshippers, and the floral decorations were beautiful bouquets and an imposing array of Easter lilies.
Pastor Watson preached on "Easter meanings." At the Lord's supper, which immediately followed the service there were nearly two hundred participants. The programme:

Hymn, "Come, Ye Faithful," Sullivan Anthem, "A Wake, Thou That Sleepest," Allen Hymn, "Welcome, Happy Morning," Calkin Anthem, "Hosanna," Granier Offertory, "List the Cherub Host," Gaul Offertory, from the "Holy City," Gaul Hymn, "Crown Him with Many Crowns," Elvey Anthem, "Resurrection," Shelley Hymn, "Our Lord is Risen," Hatton

The decorations at the Universalis Church were profusely and tastefully arranged. They consisted of a large bunch of Burmah lilies brought by Mr.
P. S. Meade, Easter lilies, Jonquil flowers, and potted palms. The entire front of the audience room, was made radiant and fragrant with these floral offerings. The Rev. Mr. Fister, the pastor preached from the text reading as follows "Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone, but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit." A large audience was in attendance. Following is the program: Organ Prelude, "Easter March," Merkel Anthem, "A Wake, Thou That Sleepest," Goerdich Anthem, "God Who Nourishes Earth and Heaven," Schuecker
Anthem—Contralto solo and quartette—Lynes Hymn, "Lift Your Glad Voices in Triumph on High," Ware
Easter Hymn, "The Magdalene," Warren Hymn, "Hail the Day That Sees Him Rise," Madan
Organ Postlude, Allegro in C Scott In the afternoon, at four o'clock, the Universalist Sunday School held its Easter concert, in which singing and recitations by the pupils of the school were the order of the hour. Mr.
Mr. W. B. Robinson of Academy street was the soloist.

TOWN MEETING.

The seats on the floor of Town Hall were filled with voters, and there were a few interested lady spectators in the gallery when Moderator Robinson called the adjourned town meeting to order at 7.45 last Monday evening.

Mr. C. T. Scannell moved, and it was voted, that Article 35 be taken up in connection with the other articles involving appropriations. The recommendation of the committee of 21, that $200 be appropriated for State aid, was adopted.

The next appropriation on the list was that of $11,600 for street lighting.
As had been expected, this gave rise to a most animated discussion between the friends and enemies of the Somerville Electric Light Company. The Selectmen, to whom the matter had been referred with full powers to make a one year contract with the company at the meeting of the week before, reported through their chairman, Mr. E. S.

Mr. Michael S. Drew opposed Mr.
Peck's motion. He said that all the company had done for the town had been forced from them. Another corporation, referring to the Welsbach Company, came in good faith and offered to light the town at a reduced rate, and add 89 lights, the total cost to be $9,338. Now was the time to economize, and at the same time get general satisfaction. Somerville and Cambridge had introduced the Welsbach Company as a competitor to the Somerville Company. Competition is the best inspector. At the close of his remarks Mr. Drew offered an agreement with the Welsbach Company for the moderator to read.

Mr. Howard W. Spurr thought that better terms might be obtained on a five year contract, and hoped that possibly a three year contract could be made on a five year basis. He moved to amend Mr. Peck's motion to that effect.

Mr. E. S. Farmer said the company

ALARM FROM BOX 23.

Shortly after seven o'clock last Sunday evening the telephone in the house of Hose 3 started ringing. Driver Sullivan of the truck answered the call and was notified that there was a fire somewhere near Linwood street, and while trying to ascertain more information the tapper commenced to strike, and 23 was counted. Driver Sullivan dropped the phone and in three minutes was on the way to the fire closely followed by Driver Brooks of Hose 3. On arriving at the fire Hose 3 took water from the hydrant on the corner of Broadway and Tufts street.
Hose 2 coupled on to the same hydrant with Hose 3, but used no water. Hose 2 then coupled on to a hydrant on Massachusetts avenue and soon two streams were pouring on and in the building, the fire having made great headway before the alarm was rung in. It was a two-story building on the farm leased by Daniel L. Tappan of Mrs. Fisher.
The building was used as a piggery.
The firemen worked like beavers, and in perfect harmony under Chief Gotts' orders, and after a hard fight subdued the flames. A portion of the floor gave way while the men were at work on the inside, and a few were a little bruised, the chief coming in for his share.
Between 25 and 30 pigs were burned or killed, this causing Mr. Tappan the necessity of cancelling a large order of the pigs for shipment. The entire loss will amount to about $500. The cause of the fire is unknown, and many theories are advanced; but Mr. Tappan knew of no way it could be set, as no matches or lights were allowed inside the building. It being Sunday evening a large crowd gathered to witness the scene. Under the chiefs and captains of the various companies, the department is in a position to cope with any fire which may occur.

Farmer, that in their judgment a one year contract was not best for the town and asked for further instructions.

Mr. William G. Peck opened the discussion. He thought that the action of the Selectmen ought to be commended.
He felt that the Somerville Company had been abused; and, while he had no financial interest in the company or any other electric light company, he would defend it for two reasons—first, because the company had been unjustly malignated; second, because his sympathy always went out to the under dog in the fight. It would be a good plan to place ourselves in the company's place. We cannot expect them to make a trade on which they will lose money, and they cannot make a contract for one year on as favorable terms as for three. Mr. Peck considered that the company were treating the town fairly, and moved that the matter be referred back to the Selectmen, with full power to make a contract with the Somerville Electric Light Company for a term not exceeding three years. The motion would not make such terms, a previous attempt having been made in that direction.

Mr. Timothy O'Leary felt that the town was not getting as good service on as good terms as some of the other towns about here, mentioning Lexington especially. He believed in giving the company a one year contract, and letting them prove that they were worthy of a longer one. The company feared that if they failed to get a three year contract, they would lose the contract entirely at the end of one year, as something might turn up in that time.

Mr. Fred M. Goodwillie took the floor in favor of a three year contract, and made an earnest appeal for such action. The discussion had become so heated and the excitement so intense by this time that some remarks of his in reference to several of his opponents were received with hisses, but the moderator quickly rapped to order, and the meeting calmed down. Mr. Good-willie explained his connection with a

INDIVIDUAL TASTE.

Nowhere is individual taste more clearly seen than in all architectural design. When one comes to know from garret to cellar the house in which the man lives, he will have come to know its occupant. The truth is, that in the structure of the private residence is usually revealed the peculiarities of the individual owner. A crotchety man, is bound to plan and build a crotchety house. If the individual be a miserly soul, he will almost invariably have what should be the lawn in front of his residence, back of the house, so he may utilize every possible inch of ground for his early vegetables for his table. There are any number of those who prize more highly a cabbage or an onion than they do the fragrant pink or rose. It does not infrequently happen that one sees both in country and town a private residence that is conspicuous by reason of what is denominated "gingerbread" work. Such a house points out the gingerbread man. The angular man will erect a dwelling, that is filled with angles, nooks and corners. And so it goes. It is fundamentally true always and everywhere that both the individual and the community at large are known by the architectural design of its private residences. Take for instance the stately home of Ralph Waldo Emerson of Concord. Who does not see in its generous outline, in its spacious halls, and in its charming surroundings, the poet and the sage, as well as the lover of nature? We have been especially impressed with the truth of which we write, in our recent reading of Thomas Bailey Aldrich, George Bancroft, John Burroughs, George W. Cable, S. L. Clemens, George William Curtis, Edward Everett Hale, Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, Harriet Beecher Stowe and other authors, as seen in their homes. John Burroughs, distinguished for his intense love of nature, has one of the most charming homes on the picturesque Hudson. The house in which Burroughs lives tells unmistakably of himself. And the same is true of the whole class of authors.

No more complimentary word can be spoken for Arlington than that she evokes excellent taste in all that constitutes architecture. Pleasant street in this village, which cannot be surpassed by any other street in the suburbs of Boston so far as its picturesque outlay is concerned, is distinguished far and wide for its unique residences, with their attractive surroundings. And all these outward material features of Pleasant street are part and parcel of those whose homes are in so charming a locality. And what is true of Pleasant street is largely true of Massachusetts avenue, Jason street, Academy street, Arlington Heights, Crescent Hill, and indeed of almost every locality in this delightful town of ours. It is not enough that one has merely "a roof over his head." He needs a home that has in it and about it the spell and charm of a cultured, educated thought. And all this he will have as he comes in touch with the world of nature, and with that world of intellect which rules supreme, wherever educated men and women are found.

"TALKING TO THE GALLERIES."

We have just read what is on the whole an intelligent report made a few months ago by a Massachusetts superintendent of schools; but in two or three instances he has stated himself so excessively therein that we feel very much like calling upon him to rise and explain. In discussing the desirability of promptness and regular attendance at school, our superintendent writes as follows: "When a parent realizes that one day's unnecessary absence inflicts an irreparable injury upon his child, he will make a special effort to assist his child to an unbroken attendance." What arrant nonsense! One day's unnecessary absence from school an irreparable injury! And, then again, this superintendent of schools in a neighboring town further says that "when we convince the child that the loss of a school hour is the loss of a priceless treasure," etc., the parent will do so and so. We believe in promptness and regular attendance at school, and yet we do not hesitate to pronounce the statement that one day or several days of unnecessary absence from school is an irreparable loss is the most stupendous bosh, only equalled by that other statement that an hour lost at school is the loss of a priceless treasure. School officials and teachers have over-defined promptness and regular attendance at school. Important as they are, and they are important, they have still been excessively put in our school vocabulary. The boy knows as everybody else knows that promptness is not observed outside of the schools. The best people are often late at church, while it has become notoriously true that no official body is expected to meet on time. The majority of business men, we are safe in saying, do not meet their financial engagements promptly. Now, do not misunderstand us. We believe in and would insist upon a reasonable promptness, and upon a reasonable regular attendance at school, but never would we so insist upon a perfect record of these requisites as to cause the boy in ill health and the sensitive girl to run for dear life on their way to school in order to avoid a tardy mark. This whole matter of promptness and attendance at school has been greatly overdone by school teachers. Why not be sensible? We are absolutely tired and sick of hearing it proclaimed upon the house top that George Washington was so everlastingly prompt that he always met his man five minutes before he put in his appearance. We preach one thing, and then practice another. It fell to our lot, a few years ago, to read a paper before the State Teachers' Association of Iowa upon the subject of promptness and regular attendance at school—and never shall we forget that we were so interrupted in our reading by the many teachers coming in late to the exercises of that afternoon session, that for a brief while we suspended our reading so that the tardy teachers might have time to be comfortably seated. And yet we have no question that these same teachers were accustomed to tell their children that a tardy mark was hardly less than the unpardonable sin. We entertain a high regard for our public school teachers, and this fact is the chief reason why we urge upon them to be sensible in all things, as they are in most, and no longer "talk to the galleries."

WHICH IS IT?

Someone has said that "there is either a good deal of pig in human nature, or a good deal of human nature in a pig." Which is it? We are inclined to the belief from what we have observed, that there is a good deal of pig in human nature. The most of us swine-like make haste to get our feet into the trough, that we may secure the best there is to be had. Just try to drive your man, and then see for yourself how quickly he will turn and go the other way. There are lots of men and women who were born on the off-side. Nothing goes to suit them. With a frequent grunt, they stand ready to put in their chronic objections. It is usually enough for them to know what you may desire, that they may butt against you. Pig-like they will befall their own nest in order to make it the more uncomfortable for you. Such as these are only approximately happy, as they make you unhappy. These pigheaded fellows live on negatives. Their lives are crammed full of don'ts. They will root up your choicest flower patches, and trample down your best grass. Their touch is poisonous, so that whatever they lay their hands upon withers and dies. Nothing goes well with these bipeds, who should have been created with four feet instead of two. They are invariably out of joint with their minister, and they are eternally finding fault with the public schools. Almost without exception they face the wrong way. They have somehow learned that you desire them to go westward, which fact affords them the only reason they have for going eastward. Whatever you affirm they deny. While these off-side men and women meet you at every turn of the road, there are fortunately those others who, taking a reasonable and sensible view of things, redeem the world from what otherwise would prove a most undesirable condition of things in both business and social life. The church and the public school and the newspaper world will have done their work when they shall have educated out of human nature all that belongs to the pig. The mission of the Enterprise is to do its part in such a commendable undertaking.

"RUNNING AWAY FROM MYSELF."

Some years ago, passing down an evening the main street in the village where we were then residing, we met on our way a woman distinguished in all that neighborhood for her rare culture, but who unfortunately had become the slave of intoxicating drink; her reply was: "I am trying to run away from myself." The woman to whom we refer was a half century ago an acquisition to the best society in New York. Her father, one of the most eminent of his profession at the bar, had acquired a national reputation. But the daughter had fallen a victim to strong drink, so that much of her time was spent upon the streets, vainly attempting "to run away from herself." Now, all this is just what many another is attempting to do. While we would not care to say it to our neighbors, yet the fact remains all the same that the most of us have at times tried to rid ourselves of our own companionship. Whenever you have used your fellow unjustly, you have attempted to escape the penalty attaching thereto, by getting away from yourself. We have set our wits at work over and over again to be other than we are by reason of some besetting sin. But it is an axiom that, wherever you go, you must take your own personal self along with you. God has so ordained it from the beginning that your first and chiefest companionship must be your personal self. There is no nook or corner in all God's universe where you can rid yourself of your own identity. It is the personal "I" whom we must meet morning, noon and night, and this, too, every day, in the year, and through all the years of our lives. Do what we may we can be no other than the man whom our name represents. The poor, unfortunate woman to whom we refer, is not the only one who has plotted all sorts of schemes and plans to run away from herself. Why isn't it just as well to be honest at the outset, and confess what is so generally true? We are all on the run, trying to leave far in the rear our more unfortunate personality. But so long as memory sits enthroned, just so long will the weaker side of human nature rise up in judgment to condemn and pronounce against us the penalty of the law. The better plan is to meet our innermost selves, and in a manly way have an interview with our better natures. At any rate, don't attempt longer to run away from yourself, for in no instance can you succeed in such an impossible flight. Coming in on the home-stretch, you will find that personal life of yours right alongside of you to share either the triumphs or the defeats awaiting you. You must bear yourself company now and forevermore.

DON'T FEAR, YOUNG MAN!

Don't fear, young man, to find more or less frequently your best girl in the kitchen helping her mother in household duties. While there is no little bewitching sentiment in sparking the lass you expect to marry, in the parlor with the gas turned low, yet to learn of those wifely attainments which you hope the young lady to possess, who is to preside over your household, visit her in the broad light of day, when in becoming calico she is dusting the rooms, or helping the mother prepare the dinner. Being able to make good bread is nothing less than an accomplishment. A tastefully laid table, laden with wholesome and palatable food, is a whole gospel to the average family life. An effectual way of reaching the heart is through the stomach. Love best thrives on what is good to eat. Divorces would be less frequent if the young man and the young woman should come to know each other before the minister pronounces them one. Your "summer girl" and the dude who parts his hair in the middle will be likely to have a breezy time of it when they come to set up their household gods. "Be ye not unequally yoked together" is the scriptural injunction. Know your man, dear girl; and you, young man, know your girl before you set up housekeeping.

The Vanderbilt-Fair wedding in New York city on Tuesday was brilliant in all its appointments. The bride adds her millions to those already possessed by the groom, so that the young couple are not likely to come to want. The gold, silver and diamond presents given Mrs. Vanderbilt amount in value, it is said, to nothing less than a million of dollars. The newly-married pair may begin house-keeping, if they so choose, regardless of expense. But of what earthly use, it may be asked, is their excess of money?

Mayor Carter H. Harrison was re-elected to his present position in the city of Chicago on Tuesday, as he predicted he would be. His majority over Gov. John P. Altgeld was 101,513. Mayor Harrison evidently knew what he was talking about when he declared his re-election was assured.

"McKinley will yield no islands won" is the way the Boston Herald puts it in its issue of Wednesday morning, and the Herald speaks with authority. "We are not fighting for conquest or acquisition of territory" was McKinley's war cry a year ago.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Mr. Gimlet: "How is your son now?" Farmer: "He's doing fust rate. He's at college." Gimlet: "Ah! so you are giving him a liberal education?"
Farmer: "Liberal? I should say I was. He's cost me eight hundred dollars for new clothes and etceteras, whatever they be, already this year. If it was any more liberal, I'd have to mortgage the farm."

An American traveling in Africa met a native monarch and amused him with tales of his native land, drawn principally from his imagination. The intelligent African readily listened to stories of men with wings, and rivers of rum; but when the traveller was obliged to fall back on facts, and related how in his country the water in lakes and rivers became solid every year, so that men could walk upon it, the King concluded that he was being deceived; and the enterprising explorer was obliged to flee for his life.

Patient: "What would you think of a warmer climate for me, doctor?" Doctor: "Great Scott! man, isn't that just what I am trying to save you from?"

It is rumored that the physicians in Arlington are about to raise their scale of prices. What a difference it makes whether you put "Dr." before or after a name!

A genuine case of Darwinian evolution: A boy in Boston recently "sprang from a monkey." The monkey belonged to an organ-grinder, and attempted to bite the boy.

URSU-OSIS. This is a new term introduced into our pharmacopoea. It is applied to the persons made sick by the beastish condition of the market. Melancholia, general nervous asthenia, and insomnia are characteristic features of this ailment. Remedy: seek the Canadian woods.

A suffering German writes: Ples giv to the girl to sents of something what is goat for to fisick I hav a bat hadack. also send a bottle of Corose of Supplament—to destroy bugs.

Teacher: "Describe the circulation of blood." Pupil: "The blood goes down one leg and up the other."

The war of extermination now being waged so fiercely against the imperturbable "sparrer" is fairly comparable to the war of extermination being waged against the liberty-loving Filipinos, with two exceptions. The exceptions are (1) that against the latter no charges or accusations are made; and (2) they are on their native soil. The sparrow is said to be English "you know," notwithstanding that everyone of them was born in America. Now if every "son of a gun" among their accusers were to trace his pedigree back a few generations he would find his great great grand parents located in Ireland, England, or some one of the continental countries of Europe. If the sparrows are not American, then there are no Americans save the red men of the forests.

Now if his Majesty, the "progressive" Mayor of Boston, would divert his bellicose energies now being wasted on the sparrow to the extinguishment of the pestiferous and death-bearing microbes which infest the atmosphere of Boston and are counted by millions in every water-pitcher, he would enroll his name on the highest pinnacle of fame as the greatest benefactor to mankind. For it is a fact universally recognized among scientists and medical men of the present day that nearly all the diseases which are most formidable to mankind, are the work of animals so small that their existence was for centuries unsuspected. They are more dangerous than the mammoth animals were to historic man. They swarm all around, and attack one in sleep and at the dinner-table. In view of these dangers, all can envy the condition of man when he had nothing to fight except the full grown wild beasts in the front yard. Better far are six lions on the front piazza than sixty millions of invisible bacteria in a tumbler of water, for the dangers which one can see and shoot at, are infinitely preferable to those which one can neither see nor hit. It is undoubtedly a gigantic task, dear Mayor, to exterminate all the microbes, but not so great, I ween, as to exterminate the sparrows, for the latter have already displayed a wonderful military tact in their orderly retreat from the highways of civilization to the forests in the outskirts, where they intend to wage an endless guerilla warfare. Every man should be ordered to become a protector of his own household, against this insidious foe. He should be warned never to open his door without sweeping his front yard with his microscope, to see if the foe is at hand; and no one should venture out of doors without a gun loaded with carbolic acid, and without a microscope worn like a pair of eyeglasses, ready for instant use. Men should be directed to abandon their present habitations, since they afford little or no protection against the fierce bacillus and betake themselves to glass houses surrounded by ditches filled with carbolic acid and provided with ventilators so contrived as to forbid the passage of the enemy. Bands of scientific microbe-savenger policemen, equipped with powerful breach-loading microscopes should ceaselessly hunt down the foe.

When man's microscopic foes are finally exterminated, he will probably live to the green old age of several centuries. Possibly one cannot die after the bacteria are exterminated, and will have to rely upon railroad accidents, steamship disasters, subway crushes and the like (which seem to be of late sufficiently abundant and effective) to rid himself of the burden of life.

Men and women in Kentucky are shown to be by the last census reports the tallest in the world; owing, as they think, to their good doctors and their blue-grass whiskey, which reminds me of an amusing observation of an acute physiologist, who said that man is composed of one part solids and ninety-nine parts water, unless he is born in Kentucky.

ARLINGTON LOCALS.

Now for the omnipresent wheel. The young people are now making time on the road with the bicycle.

Winter has not only been sitting in the lap of spring, but he has been seen mornings of late with his icy arms about her, hugging her for dear life.

The case of William B. James goes over to the grand jury, which meets somewhere about the 1st of June. His bail meanwhile remains at $1000.

The meeting for rehearsal of the minstrel show to be given by the young people of St. Malachy's Church, which was postponed last Monday evening will be held next Monday evening in the basement of the church at 8 o'clock.

Quite a number of the music-loving people in Arlington are making the most of the operatic season, which is now in full blast in Boston.

Sunday services at St. John's, Academy street. Holy communion and sermon at 10.30; Evening prayer and sermon at seven o'clock. The Easter music will be repeated in the morning.

At the meeting of the Arlington Improvement Society, to be held on Tuesday evening of next week, the question to be discussed is the following: "What can be done to give us a lower tax rate?"

A union service of all the Arlington churches will be held on Sunday evening in the Baptist Church at 7.30 o'clock. The object of the meeting is to be in the interest of a better observance of the Sabbath. The Rev. Dr. A. H. Plumb of Boston will be the leading speaker of the evening.

A collection of $175 was taken last Sunday at the Congregational Church for the new hymn book, "In Excelsis," the same as has already been adopted by the Baptist Church. The Congregational Church is to purchase 330 copies of the book. One gentleman has generously offered to purchase the last 25 copies.

The Rev. S. C. Bushnell, pastor of the Congregational Church, is to read a paper on next Monday evening before the Arlington Society upon the engagement between the Monitor and the Merrimack. This paper cannot fail to be intensely interesting and instructive, as the Rev. Mr. Bushnell's father built the Monitor, so that his son, the Rev. Mr. Bushnell, is familiar with many incidents of the Monitor in that naval conflict, of which the general public know little or nothing. That the Historical Society will have a packed house on Monday evening is assured.

The concert given in the Universalist church on Monday evening was well attended by the lovers of music resident in Arlington. The selections made were rendered with artistic taste. The opening was an offertory in G. executed by Mrs. Stevens upon the organ. Then came the contata for female voices, rendered by the choral class under the charge of Miss Brackett, the musical director. Mr. Williams, a reader of no inconsiderable merit, recited several selections, which were enthusiastically received by the audience. Indeed, all who took part responded to encores given them. Mr. Phipps, baritone, sang in a taking way an old English song, entitled: "It Was a Lover and His Lass." "Ave Maria," rendered by Mr. Marshall, Mrs. Marshall and Miss Stevens, on violin, piano and organ, was an enjoyable feature of the evening. Miss Bromley, soprano, sang "Romance" with fine effect. Contralto, Mrs. Marshall, sang with much expression, "For All Eternity." "An Irish love story" and a "Red, Red Rose" were sung by Miss Bromley. The concert from beginning to end was most enjoyable. The parts were well taken in each instance. Miss Bromley, however, was the star of the evening. She has a voice of peculiar sweetness and of rare power, and she has it well in training. Her position upon the platform is at once graceful and natural. The parts she so well rendered were especially pleasing to the audience. "The Oars Are Plashing Brightly," by the choral class closed the entertainment.

AN APPEAL.

Jason Street is the most prolific tributary to the travel on Massachusetts Avenue of any street in Arlington with two possible exceptions. Yet it is the only street having any considerable number of inhabitants that is not provided with a paved crossing at its terminus on the avenue. Readers of the Enterprise will bear witness that it has repeatedly directed the attention of our town officials to this crying need. One gentleman informs me that he has spoken to the selectmen twice about the matter. Asked what reason they give for not attending to this matter he replied that "they give no reason." Daily we hear such expressions from the residents of Jason street, especially from the ladies, as "what a shame," "why is it that they don't give us a crossing," "would it do any good to send in a petition?" etc. Between Bartlett Avenue and the railroad crossing are six paved crossings, while in the center of the town they are so thick that an athlete might almost leap from one to another. Now we ask most courteously and respectfully in behalf of the long-suffering that our officials give some reason why they do not furnish a passable crossing at this place. So much at least seems to be fairly due the residents of this street. A marked copy of this issue will be sent to each member of our town officials at the expense of, A Resident.

The Selectmen have appointed Mr. Fred E. Smith as the new regular police officer of the force.

At the morning service on Sunday one was admitted to membership in the Universalist Church.

There will be a whist party in G. A. R. Hall on Tuesday evening by the Sons of Veterans. Don't fail to go and pass an enjoyable evening.

At the Universalist Church next Sunday morning, the Rev. Harry Fay Fister will speak on the subject, "Honesty in religious affiliation."

For a first-class turnout in the carriage and hack line George A. Law can't be beaten in this town. He is always up to date and obliging. Be sure you patronize him.

Mr. Adams of the Pleasant st. market reports trade as being on the increase. The fact is he keeps the best meat in town at a living price. We recommend Mr. Adams to our citizens.

During the month of April services will be held at St. John's each Friday evening at a quarter to eight. The addresses by the rector will be on the general theme, "The Church and the Christian Life."

H. L. Frost & Co. had a busy time last week filling orders for Easter, giving perfect satisfaction in every instance. This firm is a growing one. They are now busily engaged in tree trimming, and in this line they guarantee satisfaction.

Mr. Frank Breen, Supt. A. D. Hoitt, Mr. Daniel Haley and Mr. B. R. Cleary of the Arlington Post-office, attended the letter carrier's dance in Boston on Wednesday evening, and report an enjoyable time.

Thursday at 9 o'clock Requiem High Mass was celebrated in St. Malachy's Church, by Rev. J. M. Mulcahy, on the occasion of the funeral of Patrick Reardon, who died at the residence of Thomas Mitchell, 35 Broadway. Interment in St. Paul's cemetery.

The nuptials of William J. Fermoy, formerly of Arlington, and Susanna Kennedy of Henderson street were celebrated at St. Malachy's Church, Wednesday morning, at 10 o'clock. Rev. John M. Mulcahy tied the nuptial knot. The bridesmaid was Catherine M. Reddington, and the best man Timothy M. Canniff. The happy couple will reside in Somerville. A large number of friends were present at the ceremony.

Monday evening Ida F. Butler Rebekah lodge 152, I. O. O. F., held their last party of the season in Odd Fellows' Hall. There were twelve tables, a large party considering the minstrel show given in Town Hall on the same evening. The prizes were won as follows: 1st ladies', Mrs. Willis; 2nd ladies', Miss Mitchell; 1st gentleman's, Mr. Wadleigh; 2nd gentlemen's, Mr. Willis. These parties have been well attended and greatly enjoyed.

At the union Sabbath observance service in the evening at the Baptist Church, next Sunday, the augmented Easter choir will by special request render: "Awake, Thou That Sleepest," Allen Shelley; "Resurrection," Mr. Groesbeck will sing a solo, accompanied with violin obligato by Mrs. Flora Ames Anderson of Lynn, who was formerly a member of Thayer's Boston Ladies' Orchestra. Mrs. Anderson will also play an obligato for the solos in "Resurrection," which will be sung by Mrs. Annie Wing Smith, the soprano of the church. This musical service, together with the assuredly able presentation of the subject by Dr. A. H. Plumb, ought to insure a very large audience.

At the adjourned meeting of the annual meeting of the Arlington Baptist Society, held Wednesday evening, Mr. William E. Wood, moderator, the following officers of the society were elected: Clerk, Mr. J. Freeman Wood; standing committee, F. A. Johnson, chairman, W. E. Richardson, J. Howell Crosby, J. G. Leetch, William E. Wood; treasurer, George G. Allen; collector, Clovis N. Johnson; trustee for three years, Franklin Wyman; music committee, Benjamin Conant, George G. Allen, William E. Wood; auditors, Benjamin F. Clough, William B. Wood. The appropriations aggregated $4,571, including $2,500 for pastor's salary, $400 for pastor's house rent, and $800 for music. The society starts on its new year with a clean sheet, and is to be congratulated upon its prosperous condition.

Mr. John Hoffman of West Somerville, well known to a wide circle of friends in this town, died at his home on Monday night of consumption, having been a sufferer for over two years. He was a young man of quiet, genial disposition and made friends wherever he went. His friends here extend their heartfelt sympathy to the father, mother, brother and sisters, in their bereavement. The funeral services were held on Thursday afternoon at two o'clock from his late home, the Rev. Mr. Brooks of St. James Church, West Somerville, reading the beautiful Episcopal burial service in a most impressive manner. The floral offerings, tokens of love and esteem from relatives and friends were numerous and beautiful, and showed by their beauty and fragrance the high esteem in which the young man was held. The interment was at Woburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Locke are soon to visit California. Their objective point is San Francisco.

The funeral of Daniel B. Kelley occurred Tuesday morning. The Requiem Mass was celebrated at 9 o'clock in St. Malachy's Church, Rev. J. M. Mulcahy officiating. Interment was in Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

Dr. Yale, the dentist, has changed his office hours in order to meet the demand of his increasing practice. The doctor is rapidly gaining in popular favor, and all work done by him is guaranteed. Look over his advertisement and give him a call.

The Y. P. S. C. E. connected with the Pleasant Street Congregational Church will meet as usual next Sunday evening at 6.30 in the vestry. The topic is "The Holy Garments." References, Eph. 4: 20-24; Rom. 6: 4. Mr. R. Walter Hilliard will be the leader.

Miss Langley gave a pleasant reception on Saturday afternoon in Grand Army Hall, with her dancing class of children. The boys and girls were tastefully attired, and they were graceful in every movement of the terpsichorean art. A large number of parents and friends were present.

Mr. Clinton W. Schwamb and Mr. Charles T. Bunker have recently purchased Crescent wheels of Mosely, while Mr. Harry Marden is proudly displaying a new Orient obtained from the same firm. The repair shop connected with the store is running until ten o'clock at night so as to keep up with the rush of orders. It is plain that the wheelmen of Arlington appreciate a good thing when they have it.

Messrs. Elliot A. Gove, Elbridge F. Sawyer, James Cragie, James Collins, and William Reynolds of this town, volunteers of the late Spanish-American war, and members of Battery B. 1st regt. went to Cambridge Monday, and took part in escorting Battery B. 5th regt. from Central square to their armory at Harvard square. Capt. Walter E. Lombard presided, and speech-making was indulged in. On Thursday evening the City of Cambridge banquetted the boys who answered their country's call to protect the flag.

The lecture given before the Woman's Club on Thursday afternoon, in the Town Hall, by Hamilton Wright Mabie of New York, was an intellectual treat to all lovers of the world's best authors. The fundamental thought of Mr. Mabie's address was that "the great books" in the realm of vital thought have been written by those who have expressed and emphasized therein their own intense spirituality. Indeed he made it a condition precedent, that any and all literature to serve its highest purpose must be the outcome of the individual life, and then it will not fail to reach the lives of others. Mr. Mabie cited Milton, Homer, Shakespeare, Emerson, Holmes, and others by way of illustration. His brilliant talk of more than an hour was a hearty amen to what Burroughs, Emerson, Thoreau, and other writers have said along the same line of thought. Mr. Mabie as a platform orator ranks among the very first. His style of speaking is largely conversational, and what is quite remarkable, speaking without notes as he does, there is no hitch from beginning to end in what he has to say. He goes smoothly along and carries his delighted audience with him. Miss Ida F. Robbins, the president of the Woman's club, introduced the speaker in a very happy way. Mrs. H. W. Reed sang two solos accompanied by Mrs. Chase as pianist. The Woman's Club of Arlington may congratulate itself upon its meeting of Thursday.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS.

The Sunshine Club met on Friday p. m. with Mrs. John Perry.

The Misses Van DeVeer gave their students a vacation this week.

Mr. J. C. Holmes and family have returned to their home on Park avenue after the winter's sojourn in Cambridge.

Mrs. H. C. Brown's children of Boston are spending their Easter vacation with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Jernegan.

The Arlington Heights Baptist society was organized something like a year ago, with hardly a baker's dozen. Today it is a flourishing body of Christian workers with no inconsiderable membership. The Sunday school connected with the church has grown from the small beginning of fifteen members to its present membership of 75.

Mr. Joseph H. Eaton is putting on the finishing touches to a new double tenement which he has recently erected on Massachusetts Avenue a little this side of the car stables. The house in measurement is 26.6 by 46 feet, with five rooms in each tenement. On each floor there is a bath room, with hot and cold water. The kitchen, pantry, and bath rooms are finished with North Carolina pine—the remaining part of the house is finished with white wood. The entire house from top to bottom is very conveniently arranged throughout. Mr. W. G. Kimball is the contractor and builder. Mr. Kimball in addition to the fact that he is a natural mechanic served full time as an apprentice at his work of carpentry; so that he understands all there is in his line of business. He always fills his contracts to the satisfaction of those who employ him. The work that he has put on Mr. Eaton's house is a testimonial of his faithfulness. Mr. Kimball is a reliable and intelligent mechanic.

The first anniversary of the Baptist Sunday school at Arlington Heights was observed on Sunday evening at Crescent Hall. The exercises appropriate to Easter consisted of the following anthems, finely rendered by the choir under direction of Mr. Harlan B. Bean: "Awake, thou that sleepest." "Christ the Lord is risen today." "Rejoice! Rejoice! Rejoice! on this glad day." There also was singing and recitations by the school. Soprano solo by Miss Blanche L. Swadkins, Duet, "Easter Triumph," by the Misses Lydia and Sadie Campbell. Recitation by Miss Dora Carter of Lexington. Reading of the Secretary's report, and an address by Mr. A. W. Lorimer of Newton Centre. From the Secretary's report we glean the following interesting items: "We commenced the school with three officers, five teachers and twenty scholars. On April 1st of this year we had five officers, eight teachers, and seventy-five scholars, thereby showing a very encouraging growth. An interesting event not on the program was the presentation, in behalf of the school, of a bible to Miss Macdonald teacher of the primary department, by Mr. Jason A. Swadkins, in a few appropriate remarks.

Last Sunday being the first fine Sunday for several weeks, as well as Easter-tide, saw an unusually large audience in the Park Avenue Congregational Church at both services. The morning congregation overran the seating capacity of the church. An able corps of workers, under Miss Margaret Henderson, showed great skill and taste in the floral decorations, which were exceedingly beautiful. The pulpit was almost hidden by plants and flowers of every description. Calla and Easter lilies enhanced the striking display. The musical portion of the service was finely given by the Mystic Musical Club of Arlington, and deserves special praise for their harmonious rendering of appropriate music. Several new and promising members were received into fellowship, and along with this there was infant baptism, which made a very tender and impressive service. Dr. Stembbridge took for his text Mark 16: 3.

In the evening an audience reaching into the lecture room gathered to hear the annual Easter concert by the Sabbath school. This service followed the usual lines, and was greatly enjoyed. Mr. S. A. Snow, the superintendent, in retiring from that office, gave an address in which he thanked the teachers and scholars for the support they had given him, and asked for its continuance to the new superintendent, Mr. Minot A. Bridgman. Mr. Snow also paid a fine tribute to the pastor, Dr. Stembbridge.

BELMONT.

An adjourned parish meeting of the Belmont Unitarian Society will be held in the Sunday School room on Monday evening, April 10, 7.30.

Mr. Joseph Smith, an old and respected resident of Belmont, dropped dead in the street on Sunday. The deceased resided in Waverly Park. Age 87 years.

A meeting is called to be held in the Sunday School room of the Unitarian Church at 8 o'clock on the evening of April 10, for the purpose of amending the by-laws.

A call at the store of Mr. Adam's on Friday morning found all hands unusually busy. In spite of the "get up and get" of the several clerks the customers had to wait a brief while for their turn.

The next Woman's Alliance meeting will be held on the regular date, April 10, in the Sunday School rooms of the Unitarian Church. Subject—"The Vision, Religious Intuition." The pastor of the church will give a paper on the above subject.

The Episcopal Church held interesting Easter services on Sunday. The decorations, consisting of ferns, potted plants, and Easter lilies were for the most part furnished by Mrs. John Murray Brown. The music was an interesting feature of the day.

Thomas P. Bresnahan of Cambridge and Ellen Josephine Hurley of Cross street were united in marriage at the parochial residence, Medford street, Arlington, Wednesday evening, by Rev.
A. J. Fitzgerald. The former is station agent of the Lake street station of the B. & M. R. R. The newly married couple will reside on Cleveland street, Arlington.

There were large congregations at the Unitarian Church last Sunday, both at the morning and evening services. The special Easter collection in the morning amounted to $227.90, which will be divided between the American Unitarian Association, the Tuskegee Normal Industrial School, and the Kindergarten for the Blind.

Masses were celebrated at St. Joseph's Church at 8.30 and 10 o'clock. Rev.
P. M. O'Connor delivered a sermon at each service on the "Resurrection, the Proof of the Divinity of Christ and the Foundation of Our Faith." The musical programme was elaborate and rendered by the children's choir, under the direction of Miss Maria Meisel; Miss Rufina Meisel, organist. The altar was beautifully decorated with cut flowers and potted plants and illuminated with gas jets, numberless candles and colored lamps.

CRESCENT HILL CLUB.

At the last monthly meeting three new members were admitted.

President Kirchmayer celebrated his 19th birthday at the club house last Saturday evening. Collation was served.

The "Basket Party" on Tuesday evening was a very enjoyable affair.
The sale of baskets was very spirited, and those who got the basket they wanted, had to pay a good price. One basket was bid up to $5.20 and the party who brought it did not get it.

Harry Jukes and Henry Brown are kept busy on ladies' nights, they having charge of arrangements on these evenings.

President Kirchmayer is at the exhibition of the Arts and Crafts Society in Copley Hall, he having charge of the wood engraving exhibit of the society.

The regular meeting being on Thursday, the game in the whist tournament took place on Friday, but too late to be published this week.

At the regular meeting on Thursday the committee on house rules reported the following which was adopted:

- (1) No card playing or games of any kind allowed on Sundays.
- (2) No dancing, boisterous singing, talking or piano playing on Sundays.
- (3) No gambling or intoxicating liquors allowed on the premises.
- (4) Profanity is strictly prohibited.
- (5) No piano playing or singing after 10 o'clock p. m., unless consent of house committee is obtained.
- (6) Smoking not allowed on first floor.
- (7) Stamping on floor or loud whistling not allowed.
- (8) On Ladies' Night smoking allowed in the basement only.
- (9) The club house shall be closed at 11 o'clock p. m., except on special occasions.
- (10) The house committee has power to enforce above rules.

Mr. Fred White is busy soliciting subscriptions for support of Park Avenue Church.

Mr. Miles, superintendent of the car station, is slowly recovering from a severe attack of the grip.

Mr. Currier of Highland avenue was taken suddenly and seriously ill last Saturday. At time of writing he is doing very nicely.

Special-Policeman Hutchinson, who is for a portion of his time in the employ of Walter B. Farmer, won on Saturday the cup at the Middlesex shoot.

Mr. J. Warren Turner left for St.
Paul yesterday. He will be greatly missed here, especially in musical circles. We heartily wish him every success.

Mr. Baxter of Park avenue entertained a dinner party of eight last Monday, and on Thursday they left for a few days' visit to Duxbury. They join a party of young married people there.

Next Sunday evening Dr. Stenbridge, pastor of Park Avenue Congregational Church, will commence a series of popular services, when each sermon will be illustrated by three large pulpit paintings, each one by well known artists.
No efforts will be spared to make these services attractive and instructive. The music will be a chorus choir from Bedford.

Usual services in Park Avenue Congregational Church tomorrow. Morning services at 10.45, with sermon by the pastor. The new quartette, composed of Misses Anderson and Westcott and Messrs. Averill and Walter Bean, will give several selections. Sabbath school at 12.10 m. Bible class by M. J. K.
Simpson. Junior C. E. at 4 p. m. V.
P. S. C. E. at 6 p. m., led by Mr. William Lloyd. Subject: "The Holy Garments." Praise and preaching sermon at 7.15 p. m. A welcome for all.

Last Tuesday evening the half-yearly meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E. was held in the lecture room of the church. It was well attended. The following officers and chairmen of committees were appointed: President, Mr. E. W. Nicol; vice-president, Minot A. Bridgman; recording secretary, Edith Mann; corresponding secretary, Emma F. Bennett; treasurer, Elma Bridgman; lookout and prayer meeting committee—chairman, Minot A. Bridgman; social committee—chairman, Margaret Henderson; missionary and flower committee—chairman, Edith Mann; music committee—Mrs. W. P. Hadley, superintendent, Junior C. E. Alice White; assistant superintendent, Mabel Snow.

The sale of work, supper and entertainment, gotten up by the Ladies' Aid Society of Park Avenue Congregational Church, was held last Wednesday afternoon and evening, and was from every standpoint very successful. About $100 was netted. The ladies' parlor, where the tempting goods were spread, was tastefully decorated. Four stalls were arranged as follows: Aprons and similar useful articles, in charge of Mrs.
Goodwillie, Mrs. Tukey, and Mrs.
Bridgman; handkerchiefs (from every state in the union), Mrs. Bacon and Mrs. Turner; fancy goods, Misses Henderson and Miss Elma Bridgman; candy, Mrs. H. Bean. A mystery well was a source of endless amusement to young and old alike.

The supper, which called forth many warm expressions of praise, was in charge of Mrs.
Partridge, Mrs. Dwellie and Mrs. Averill, assisted by an able corps of young men. Many prominent people were present, including Rev. and Mrs. S. C.
Businell and Mrs. N. M. Farmer of "Idahurst." The entertainment was specially enjoyable, despite the unavoidable absence of Messrs. Tucker, Warren Turner and Bacon. Mr. Ramseyer of Hyde Park was much enjoyed in his flute solos, as was Mrs. Weston of Medford on the piano. Misses Bertha Redman, Marion Woodward, Bessie Muzey, Alice Hutchinson and Mr. Lester Redman received hearty and deserved encores for their parts in the programme, and the thanks of the large audience were tendered to them. The ladies of the church are exceedingly gratified with the success of their efforts.

Arlington Locals.

Mr. Melville Haskell of Water street, is out again after having been confined to his home with a sprained ankle.

The tracks of the Boston Elevated Railway Co. underwent a thorough repairing this week at the lower end of the town.

Officer D. M. Hooley has moved to Medford street, in the apartment house next to the Alice, and has very pleasant quarters.

Mr. Thomas A. Dineen sang at St.
Bridget's Church, Lexington on last Sunday and very acceptably filled the position.

Last Monday Auctioneer J. Prescott Gage sold the old Litchfield studio building on Broadway, next to the Arlington House. The building was bought for Mr. W. W. Rawson by Mr.
Arthur Wellington.

The funeral of the late Josiah Locke, whose death occurred on Sunday at his home in Winchester, was held on Wednesday afternoon in the Baptist Church, the Rev. Dr. Watson officiating.
The deceased was 81 years of age.

A very pleasant whist party was held in G. A. R. Hall on Thursday evening.
The object was to raise money for flowers for memorial day, and judging by the large party present a handsome sum was netted. There were 30 tables in all and the party was a social as well as well as financial success.
Thanks are due to Commander Frank Marden and wife who had the affair in charge.

Thursday evening the solicitors of the Arlington branch of the Holy Ghost Hospital Aid Society, met in Knights of Columbus Hall and spent an enjoyable evening. The first two hours, 8 to 9, were spent in playing whist, and from 10 to 12 were spent in dancing.
During the evening there were readings by Miss Desmond of Medford, and vocal selections by Messrs. Thomas A.
Dineen and P. A. Hendricks, and piano selections by Prof. McCarthy of Medford. The ladies' prize was won by Miss Annie Dacey and the gentlemen's prize by T. F. Collins, the booby prizes were unique and to the point, but the names of the winners were unable to procure for print. Mr. John A. Bishop, the president, and his coworkers deserve great praise for their labors in this cause.

The Veteran Fireman's Association met in their new hall last evening.
There was a surprised look on many of the faces to see the change wrought.
The walls had been painted, papered, pictures hung, new carpet put on the platform, and the floor stained. The new officers elected were: prest. W. A.
Pierce; 1st vice prest. T. Donahue; and vice prest. C. Gott; recording secretary, J. Schumacher; treasurer, Geo.
Hill. Board of Directors, S. Meade, R. LeBaron, S. Bertwell, W. J. Sweeney, Foreman, J. H. Kenney. 1st assistant, A. A. Tilden, 2nd assistant, M. Haskell. Steward, T. Hodge. The association is in a prosperous condition and rapidly gaining members.

The school board hope to perfect arrangements for the dedication of the Locke School house on the 19th of April Patriots day. An invitation has been extended the Hon. James W. Bailey Jr. to deliver the dedicatory address. The children will sing appropriate selections. The exercises will be held in the corridor and in the rooms adjoining on that floor. When the Crosby school was dedicated a new flag was presented to the school. The Locke school should see to it that a new flag is on that day unfurled to the breeze.

A fair sized audience composed for the most part of members and friends of Veritas Lodge of Odd Ladies from Arlington and Cambridge were present in Town Hall last Thursday evening to witness the minstrel show presented by members of this organization. The circle, with the exception of the end men, was composed entirely of ladies arrayed in the fantastic and gayly colored costumes commonly worn on such occasions. Mr. Frank Crossman and Mr. Alfred A. Roberts assisted in the important capacity of end men. The first part of the programme consisted of coon songs and ballads interspersed with the customary jokes and conundrums. Mr. Alfred A. Roberts was especially good and his rendering of "Oh, Promise Me" was excellent. The second part opened with a fine Mandolin solo by Mr. Egbert Stacpole which was enthusiastically encored. This was followed with an exhibition of buck and wing dancing by Mr. Phil Mikel-burg and by a song "Mr. Johnson don't get gay" by Mr. Roberts. The evening concluded with a nonsensical black-face melange entitled "Ebony Flats and Sharps," in which the characters were sustained by members of the company.

Ladies' night of division 43, I. O. A.
O. H., proved a very enjoyable occasion last Monday evening. The committee, of which Mr. John Duffy was chairman, deserves much credit for the able manner in which the affair was handled.
Mr. T. A. Dineen was floor director, and Caterer Hardy furnished refreshments.

ESTER SERVICES.

UNIVERSALIST.
Easter Day was bright and jubilant.
The decorations were simple, but effective, consisting wholly of cut and potted flowers. The altar was vested in white silk, with a white dossal above and behind the super-altar. Calla lilies, daffodils, carnations and other blossoms were arranged on either side of the jewelled altar-cross. The font was adorned with geraniums in pots and annunciation lilies.

There was an early celebration, with morning prayer, at 7.30. At this service the new chancel prayer-book, a handsome volume in red morocco, was read for the first time. The book bears an inscription in gilt letters on the cover, "The Gift of the Sunday School, Easter, 1899." At 10.30 the church was filled with a devout congregation. The service was Holy Communion, the sermon being preached by the rector. The music was Woodward in B flat, with the exception of the "Gloria in Excelsis," which was sung to Stainer's setting in E. The anthem was "Awake Thou That Sleepest," by Simper. The Rev.
James Yeames preached from the text:
"Now is Christ Risen from the Dead and Become the First Fruits of them That Slept." I. Corinth. xv. 20. This is the testimony of Paul, a man of well-poised judgment and keen, logical mind.
It was the testimony of an eye-witness, for the risen and ascended Lord had been seen of Paul also. The introductory particle in the verse is the barrier between glorious hope and black despair. This little monosyllabic "but" makes all the difference between a doom of everlasting nothingness and the heritage of eternal glory. If Christ be not risen, then is man miserable indeed; alike the man whose life is richest and fullest, and he whose life has been one long martyrdom. And we, of all men, "most miserable," because we trusted in Christ, we hoped better things, to be but deceived and disappointed. But now is Christ risen!

We note here the New View giver of Death. Sleep means rest and invigor-ation. In the law of life sleep implies waking, it means healing and restoration—a new life comes with each new morning.

So the wearied and wasted body shall rest, to rise in honor, in power, in glory!
Meanwhile the emancipated spirit shall walk at large in Paradise, where the soul of Jesus, with the redeemed thief who was the trophy of his saving power tarried while his sacred body, angel-guarded, rested in the rock-hewn tomb.
2. We anticipate the Harvest of Life.
"Christ the firstfruits. The sheaf from the field, the cluster from the vineyard, these first fruits were not only the harbingers but the evidence of harvest.
The golden corn, the ruddy grapes were tokens of a victory won over cold and rigorous winter, they were the witnesses to the triumphant forces of sunshine and vitalizing air; evidences of life-growth, fruitfulness. With the risen Christ our humanity has risen. The ascended Lord wears our humanity in the heavens. He says "Because I live, ye shall live also!"

A vacant tomb! Angels in the sepulchre! It were not strange that angels should throng the skies, and sweep on radiant wing through realms of life and light. But the resurrection of Jesus shows us angels in the tomb. The grave is not a terminus but an avenue opening into the light that knows no shadow. Onward we move urged by the irresistible forces of the mortality which is our natural heritage; but ever onward, and upward. Into the sepulchre, but onward still. So through the grave and gate of death, we pass to our joyful resurrection, to abide forever with him who has said, "Where I am, there also shall my servants be."
The Children's Easter Festival was held in the afternoon at four. The children sang Easter carols with spirit and melody. The sacrament of Holy Baptism was administered. The rector gave an address which was closely listened to. At the close of the service each child received a potted geranium in bloom. The morning offering was more than $100; the children's Lenten offering for missions, the fruit of their own work and self denial was $12.70, making the day's total $112.70.

TOWN MEETING.

certain article published in last week's Enterprise, which had been referred to by previous speakers. He declared that the article had been written by himself, and that he had paid for the publication of the same out of his own pocket. He considered this a good business contract, and one of the finest things ever submitted to the town.

Mr. Farmer closed the debate on the subject, explaining that the Welsbach Company had been considered in the first contract prepared, and told how they had been defeated.

The question then came on Mr.
Spurr's amendment, which was lost.
The motion as originally made by Mr.
Peck was then passed. The rest of the appropriations recommended by the committee of 21 were taken up in turn, and the several amounts voted.

Coming back to the matter of salary of the auditors, which went over at the last meeting, it was voted, on motion of Mr. C. T. Scannell, and in accordance with the recommendations of the committee of 21 that the Selectmen be instructed and empowered to employ a professional auditor to audit the books and accounts of the town for the current year, and that the cost of same be paid from the taxes of 1899.

Mr. Scannell wished it thoroughly understood that this vote did not reflect in any manner on the Town Treasurer, in whom the committee of 21 had absolute and unqualified confidence, but was only a step in reaching an ultimate decision in a town of this size. On motion of Mr. Spurr $50 was appropriated for auditor's salary.

Article 18 was then taken from the table on motion of Dr. Reed. Under this article Dr. Reed made a partial verbal report for the building committee of the new Locke school house, showing the entire amount so far spent out of the appropriation to be $27,500, leaving a balance of $1,500. The work of the contractors and builders has been done to the satisfaction of the committee, and the building will compare favorably with the other town buildings.

The report of the committee was accepted, and on motion of Mr. Tuttle they were authorized to spend such sum as they might deem best out of the balance of the appropriation left in their hands for the dedication exercises of the new building.

Considerable debate was caused by the recommendation of the committee of 21 that.

In view of the fact that this committee had the trend of appropriations for the proper maintenance of the town's departments each year, taken into consideration with the total assessed value of the town, would indicate an increase in the tax rate in the near future, that a committee be appointed by the moderator to consider the entire question of assessments, the town and its bearings upon appropriations, and committee to report in print, with their recommendations, at the town meeting to be held in November; and said committee are hereby instructed to send to the residence of each voter of this town a copy of their report, by mail or otherwise, not less than fourteen days before said November meeting; and that the sum of $300 be appropriated to be expended by the direction of said committee.

Mr. William G. Peck thought such action would be of doubtful utility.
This would lead to a virtual re-valuation of the town, would take at least five weeks of the time of the committee appointed, and then what had we gained? If we find a greater valuation, we will have to pay a larger state and county tax. A higher tax rate is surely coming, and there is no better way than to take it as gracefully as possible.

Mr. S. A. Fowle favored the appointment of the committee, and suggested that it would be a good plan to have the assessors associated with them.

Mr. C. T. Scannell did not favor placing any member of the board of assessors on such a committee. He believed enough public-spirited citizens could be found to make a personal sacrifice and serve even if they were not paid a single cent. He would like to know if it was the desire of the town to have a higher tax rate. As to the present state of affairs, the method of assessing property in this town is beyond the understanding of the average citizen.
There are two classes of citizens in town on the taxation question. On one side are arrayed those citizens who pay a tax on a house and the land upon which it sets, while on the other are the farming interests of the town, and the holders of large unoccupied tracts of land.
The new class of citizens who are coming into the town want modern improvements and are willing to pay their share of the taxes. It is an unfair argument to say "don't increase your valuation because the state will get something out of it."

Mr. Scannell then moved that the matter be referred to a committee of seven appointed by the moderator, on which committee no member of the board of assessors shall serve. The matter was further debated by Messrs.
Peck, Tuttle, O'Leary, Spurr and Scannell. On the vote being taken the recommendation of the committee was adopted.

The recommendation of the committee of 21, "that the town authorize the committee of Twenty-one to treat with the Boston Elevated Railway Company in regard to extending said company's line on Broadway," was adopted after a good deal of discussion, resulting in changing the word "treat to 'meet,'" and the matter was left in the hands of the committee. The board of survey were then instructed to establish the grade of Broadway at their earliest convenience.

The committee recommendation that in the future the expense of compiling the so-called "Field Book," made annually by the assessors, and filed once in three years as required by law, shall be borne by the assessors, as it would seem to be one of their duties, was adopted, as was their recommendation that an appropriation of $20.78 be made together with $979.22 which stands the credit of Medford street estate, making $1,000, said $1,000 to be used to reduce amount owed on said estate, and that the selectmen be instructed to refund the debt due on that estate at a lower rate of interest if possible.

On motion of Mr. Farmer $1,150 was appropriated for insurance in addition to the $600 voted at the last meeting.

Under article 28 it was voted to give the custody of the old Eureka engine to the Arlington Veteran Fireman's Association.

It was voted to change the name of Pleasant Street Place to Pelham Terrace on motion of W. H. H. Tuttle, in memory of Mr. Edward Pelham, one of the earliest property holders of the town.

On motion of Rev. J. M. Mulcahy, Article 27 was taken up. Mr. Mulcahy offered the following motion:

"That the subject matter of Article 27 be referred to a committee of five to consider this matter in all its bearings, including its legal aspects; give one or more, if necessary, public hearings to parties interested; and report with recommendations at the next meeting of the town or at a special meeting which they may call for that purpose if they deem it expedient.
Said committee shall be appointed by a committee of three, including the moderator, who shall designate the other two."

Mr. Peck thought the legal aspect of the matter should be looked into by the Selectmen, and moved a substitute that the matter be referred to the Selectmen to ascertain as to the legality of the town's passing such a vote.

Mr. Mulcahy said that he failed to see any necessity for delay. The committee as constituted under the motion could get a legal opinion as well as the Selectmen. He objected to the substitute motion.

Mr. Scannell favored the original motion. He thought that the best way to settle the question was to appoint a committee, hear their report, and act upon it as the town saw fit. Mr. W. E.
Richardson, Mr. R. J. Hardy and Mr.
Ross also spoke. Mr. Peck's substitute was adopted by a vote of 154 to 132.

The article in reference to voting precincts was laid on the table, as the hour was getting late.

It was voted to authorize the Town Treasurer, under the direction of the Selectmen to borrow for necessary purposes, in anticipation of the collection of taxes.

The meeting adjourned until Monday, April 10, at 8 o'clock.
